

RIANNA-LISA GOKSEL

EMERALD CLASS

Friday 2nd February

Dear diary,

Today I'd like to confess to you my feelings for my attention-seeker. I've been feeling miserable lately and yes I've been feeling a bit jealous of her kindness. She always gets attention from the village how helpful she is and wonderful.

This Plant-loving, beast of attention is my enemy. This 'heavenly' 'perfect' monster is favoured by everyone, especially father. Instead of favouring 'beautiful Nysha' I HATE HER. I hope father or 'little princess' find this diary. Otherwise I'll be doomed.

I wish father ^{would} like me more than Stupid Nyasha. I want to be QUEEN! I will be his only daughter once I deal with her. I hate that inside she's horrible. When I'm queen she will serve me and bow down to me. She will soon suffer how I'd suffered the last years.

This has really helped me express my feelings. They will never find this book bye.

bye!

DANIELLE PERRY - DIAMOND CLASS

Wednesday 21st February 2018

LO: I am learning to write an adventure and mystery story.

Success criteria

	I have included an opening, build-up, problem and resolution in my story.
	I have used conjunctions to extend my sentences.
	I have used paragraphs to group related material.

One morning, two big sisters went out for a stroll ~~at~~ they were called Lilly and Isabella and Lilly the eldest one was very smart and Isabella on the other hand liked math tests and reading books. One day they went to play on the swings.

The same day Lilly found an old rusty creaky tree house and Isabella did not want to go in and after a while while Lilly did not come back so Isabella opened the creaky door to the tree house and Lilly was nowhere to be seen.
