You have read all about the five children who disappeared when Grandma was a girl. Briefly explain how each of them disappeared.

Ranghild Hansen was 8 year old and was playing with her little sister she went to witch and witch went missing.

Solveg Christiansen A witch gave her an apple to her and then she got sucked into the photo but she still stays.

Birgit Svenson started slowly year after year growing feathers and then turned into a chicken she even lay eggs.

Harald one morning his skin became grey and then he became solid stone and they still keep him there.

Leif went on holiday Leif stayed under the water for a very long time eventually he turned into a porpoise.

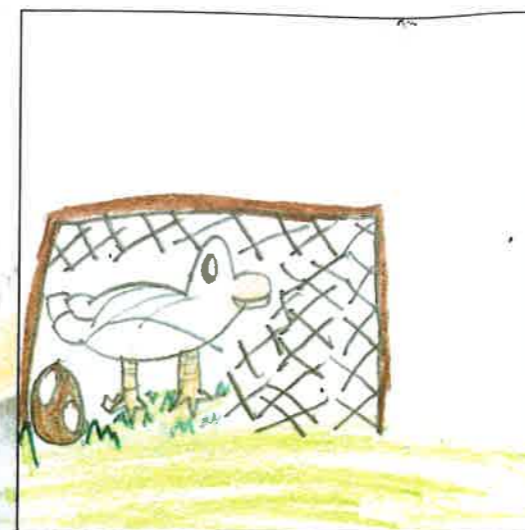

THEO COPALL - DIAMOND CLASS

Now draw a colour picture of what each child looked like (turned into) after they had an encounter with a witch.

Birgit Svenson

Leif

Can you write a sentence explaining why there was no picture box for Ranghild Hansen? Because Hansen disappeared never to be seen again!

LO: To know how living things are adapted to live in extreme environments.
Success criteria
I understand how the features of an environment affects living things.	✓
I can suggest and design features of a living thing to suit an environment.	✓
I can explain how changes in an environment might affect how living things survive there.	✓

(Parentis cobra Blue Collared (~~Cobra parentis~~ nutholls) Cobra:

This creature is named after its attractive blue collar; the collar is used for sharp vision and rotation of the head. It also is useful for rapid position switches as its head will lead and the body will follow.

Habitat:

The blue collared cobra is found in dry, to cooking temperatured places, all over the world. This global snake is adapted to flat but sand dunes victims. Its ^{eco}eco-system mainly contains tricky prey but not for this ^{killer} beast.

Adaptations:

Since the cobra only sleeps around on trees but hunts on land to protect itself it has colour changing scales to hide away from predators. The scales are heat proof, but all so stretchy stretchy to change lengths of the body. From the sharp, scar leaving whip (tail) from the tip of its red and purple tongue contains a cooling system.

Contribution to its environment:

It's contribution is sacrificing its freedom to balance the amount of rats/mouse, birds sometimes, and ~~and another of its prey it can find.~~ Also, if there comes to be any foreign animals that are not doing good to its home land, then no matter its strengths, it will make the foreigner its prey...

Did you know?:

- It can only be discovered in ^{desert} deserts.
- It can survive in temperatures for 40°-140°.
- The rest of its body/scales can turn different colours but the collar will always stay blue.
